

The Meaning Making Cycle

See how situations, thoughts, feelings and actions influence one another

Events do not arrive with meaning attached. Our minds interpret them using past experiences and present needs. That interpretation shapes feelings and actions, which then influence what happens next.

A recent example

Where could a kinder or more accurate meaning change the cycle?
